Grant for Researchers Raising Small Children (KGYNK)

According to information received from the Hungarian Academy of Sciences (MTA), one of the main reasons for the delay in issuing the KGYNK call for applications was that the Budget Act was finalised and made public somewhat later than usual. In addition, time was needed to review the terms of the call and to make certain adjustments to them. The Secretariat of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences (MTA) plans to re-launch the call – which is of great significance to those recently returning to work after having children – by early December this year at the latest, with the submission deadline expected to be early February 2027.

The above information has been provided by Árvácska Sárpátki, Head of the Research Grants Department at the Secretariat of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences, to whom we would like to express our thanks.